To whom it may concern,

Throughout our partnership, Tara has consistently demonstrated exceptional skills in handling long-term client relationships. She has always been able to manage complex projects for our clients where photography direction has been involved. Tara's approach to problem-solving is not only creative but also pragmatic, and clients have always been happy working with her.

I've also relied on Tara to support the development of new business opportunities with F&B and hospitality clients such as Roberto's and Soul Green restaurants. Her forward-thinking mindset and proactive attitude have been instrumental in creating unique and compelling visual content that aligns perfectly with our clients' visions, as well as organising shoots, events, and productions in a detail-oriented and timely manner.

Tara has proven herself to be a professional and dependable partner. Her commitment to maintaining high standards and fostering positive working relationships has made her an integral part of our collaborative efforts with luxury brands. Her dedication and enthusiasm have been important to the way we work, and many times she has been able to mediate situations with difficult suppliers, allowing us to maintain smooth and productive creative business relationships.

Tara's expertise in photography and production, coupled with her long-term client management and problem-solving skills, makes her an exceptional asset to any team. I highly recommend her for any future projects.

Best wishes,
